3. COMMENTARY

3.1. The Economic Development Strategy (EDS) sets out the Council's aspirations regarding the local economy from 2021 to 2031. The Covid Pandemic has seen businesses look to the Council for a range of support, whether this has been through the administration of Covid business grants or networking opportunities.

3.2. The EDS forms an essential part of our strategic framework, alongside a range of strategies and plans across the borough (both statutory and non-statutory), which define our way of working and priorities. It is considered an important strategic document for the continued growth and sustainability of Bromley's economy, specifically:

3.2.1. The EDS will make evident to stakeholders, including residents, businesses, visitors and investors that Bromley Council is adopting a pro-active approach to economic growth and development. Moreover, it shows the Council is committed to supporting the economic prosperity of residents and to enable businesses to thrive, as well facilitate clean, sustainable economic growth. By seeking to enhance and develop the local economy, despite evidence of Bromley's relatively strong economy; it will demonstrate to stakeholders that Bromley Council has high ambitions for the borough.

3.2.2. Changes in the economy are inevitable. The current COVID-19 pandemic and ensuing lockdowns have exacerbated existing economic uncertainties for a number of residents businesses and industry sectors within Bromley. The Strategy demonstrates the Council is commitment to facilitating a strong local economy, and that Bromley is a strong place for businesses to be based or chose.

3.2.3. The EDS will support the priorities in other documents as a key element of the strategic framework. Hence, it will better enable Bromley Council to deliver on aims and aspirations set out in documents such as the Regeneration Strategy and Building a Better Bromley

3.2.4. The EDS provides one single place where the multiple factors and areas that together comprise Bromley's economic strengths can be viewed. It provides data and information on numerous areas and factors that contribute to Bromley's economy. This includes information on Bromley's:

- Demographic mix and population data
- Rates of education and qualification
- Employment profile and rates of employment/unemployment
- Business profile – quantity and variety of businesses within the borough
- Gross Domestic Product (GDP) and Gross Value Added (GVA)
- Office, retail, service and industrial spaces
- Levels of deprivation and Renewal Areas identified by the Local Plan
- Transport links
- Digital connectivity
- Culture and tourism

The information in this section is presented using figures, tables and infographics to best illustrate Bromley's economic and other factors. This information shows that Bromley is a strong performer economically and that it has many economic strengths relative to other London Borough's and the UK. It also provides information and data on the impacts of COVID-19 on the local economy and how Bromley Council has supported business and residents through grants, funds and other support.

3.2.5. This Strategy sets out seven economic aspirations for Bromley. These aspirations are intended to guide the economic direction and growth that Bromley Council would like to see in Bromley over the next 10 years. Each of the economic aspirations is comprised of a set of related objectives that together will allow for the achievement of that economic aspiration.

The economic aspirations are as follows:

- Education and skills – ensuring residents have access to the right opportunities for skills and education that will ensure healthy employment in the future
- Employment spaces – ensuring businesses have access to the right employment spaces in the right places with strong networks which encourage enterprise and facilitates sustained growth
- Thriving and investing – ensuring Bromley is an exciting, attractive and welcoming place where businesses thrive, people aspire to live and visit, and new enterprises seek to invest.
- Attractive High Streets – ensuring our High Streets are thriving places, working to be places that people want to visit, live and work
- Connectivity and mobility – ensuring Bromley is well connected through diverse physical and digital infrastructure networks which underpin mobility across the whole borough
- Enhancement of tourism and culture industries – ensuring our cultural and tourism industries continue to grow and diversify, and our unique historical features are promoted for the world to see
- Promoting Green Economy – ensuring we promote the Green Economy: sustaining and advancing economic, environmental and social well-being

The economic aspirations cover a multitude of areas and thus will require coordination between numerous departments within Council as well as involvement from external stakeholders.

3.3. The EDS has been formulated through both internal and external consultation. In both cases, the feedback has informed the strategy and commitments have been made to these economic aspirations.

3.4. Engagement has taken place across Council departments, as well as with arrange of key partners, businesses and business representatives, including the Bromley Business Taskforce and Bromley Economic Partnership. A full list of stakeholders that have contributed can be found in Appendix 2.
