3. COMMENTARY

- The HWB has a statutory duty to publish the PNA. It is an assessment of need for pharmaceutical services in its area which must be revised every three years. The PNA is used by NHS England and commissioners for informing decisions on applications for new pharmacies, changes in premises for existing pharmacies and changing services of existing pharmacies;
- The Health and Wellbeing Board has delegated responsibility for the PNA to the Public Health team, the latest production of which has been contracted out to the Healthy Dialogues Consultancy;
- The current contract with Healthy Dialogues for production and maintenance of the PNA runs out at the end of September 2024. The process for reprocurring a consultancy to produce and maintain the PNA for its next iteration has therefore been started. The next PNA must be ready for publication one year later. It is intended to procure a consultancy to produce and maintain the PNA over its next 2 cycles, each of which is 3 years in length;
- The HWB will be updated on a regular basis regarding progress.
